SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS & DISABILITIES POLICY

The Learning Support Department (LSD) aims to support a wide range of students' needs in a cross-curricular environment. The LSD takes a co-ordinating role as well as directly supporting students with SEND (Special Educational Needs & Disability). Details of our school offer are accessible on the school website.

We believe that:

- All young people including those with special educational needs and disabilities are entitled to a broad, balanced curriculum that reflects their needs, aspirations and interests.
- All of our young people will access, engage and progress through the mainstream curriculum.
- All staff have a responsibility for providing for young people with SEND. This can be facilitated through curriculum developments and through the support of individual young people. It is important that staff develop professional skills in this area.
- Like all young people, those identified as having SEND are individuals with a variety of learning styles, strengths and needs. They are not a distinct or homogenous group and may have much in common with young people not identified as having SEND.
- A young person with SEND is understood by the Code of Practice (2015) as being a student that either has a significantly greater difficulty in accessing the curriculum than the majority of others of the same age or has a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age. In all cases, such needs also arise from the interaction between the child and the learning environment. Assessment of SEND must take account of this.
- It is important that teaching staff maintain high expectations of all young people inclusive of those with SEND and provide opportunities to achieve and demonstrate success. Learning difficulties can be temporary and can be minimized by appropriate teaching methods.
- Teaching approaches which help young people with SEND access the curriculum are often useful for many other children as well.
- Young people with SEND may require additional resources in order to ensure they have full access to the curriculum.
- A young person should not be considered to have SEND merely because he or she is in the early stages of learning English. However, some bilingual children also have learning difficulties. Due to the cohort of students at Stepney All Saints School it is especially important that bilingual young people with SEND are identified early and appropriate support provided. It is necessary to use a variety of identification and monitoring approaches. In addition, displays of poor behaviour do not necessarily mean that there is a special educational need, it may indicate that further investigation/assessment is required. The views of parents and of the young people themselves are sought and used in assessing and meeting needs, in reviewing progress made and in evaluating SEND provision in the school.

THE LEARNING DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT AIMS:

- To ensure that young people with SEND are quickly identified and appropriate consultation with parents/carers takes place.
- To encourage high levels of aspiration and achievement.
- To make the curriculum accessible for all young people through differentiation and the use of appropriate teaching and support strategies.
- To contribute to the professional development of all staff in relation to SEND through a range of formal and informal in – service training strategies.
- To maintain efficient and effective records keeping systems (SIMS and paper files/online files) to monitor and evaluate individual and group progress against expected achievement and specific targets outlined in the Learning Support Profile and/or Education, Health & Care Plan (EHCP).

- To seek views of young people, parents, teachers, governors, outside agencies and the Local Education Authority (LEA) in determining and evaluating SEND provision.
- To plan and implement practical ways in which the school can adapt itself for young people with physical disabilities e.g. wheelchair users.

Headteacher

The Headteacher currently has overall responsibility for the implementation of SEND and inclusion within the school. He will ensure that the SEND policy is implemented and he will monitor and review its effectiveness.

Governors

School governing bodies have statutory duties towards young people with SEND. Governors must report annually to parents on the policy for young people with the SEND and provide details of provision and allocation of resources.

Subject teachers

All teachers are responsible for the education of young people with SEND. This involves planning differentiation in line with adaptive teaching, using strategies recommended by SENDCo/EP/SALT and providing useful feedback to help these students make progress. Subject teachers are responsible for making appropriate provision and knowing the targets on any Learning Support Profile (LSP) for those on the SEND list. Subject teachers and form tutors must also be aware of the contents of the LSP for students on the SEND list. They are asked to contribute to reviews of progress and to the formulation of the new LSPs and referrals for tier 2/3 intervention in line with APDR

Deputy SENDCos

Deputy SENDCos are responsible for overseeing and reporting on the progress and attainment of young people with SEND across their allocated key stage. Deputy SENDCos play a key role in the early identification of SEND by liaising with behaviour, pastoral and safeguarding teams. The Deputy SENDCos support the SENDCo in overseeing and leading the Annual Review process and offer guidance, support and training to HLTAs. Deputy SENDCos to also deliver social skills and communication workshops in partnership with EP/SALT and Phoenix.

Learning Support teachers (LSD teachers)

LSDs work in partnership with the SENDCo and Deputy SENDCos in ensuring Annual Reviews are person centred and delivered to a high standard. They also are involved in supporting and training Learning Support Assistants. LSD teachers currently withdraw some individual young people and small groups for 'wave 2 & 3' interventions. (The development plan includes provision for short term small group literacy/numeracy and social skills classes as well as one off or short term revision sessions.) Deliver and plan coaching sessions focusing on future pathways with the writing of a CV and interviews practice. They also sometimes see children individually for the purpose of testing and reviewing LSP targets and progress. In addition, they may teach an alternative accreditation course, Award Scheme Development and Accreditation Network (ASDAN) at Key Stage 4.

Higher Level Teaching Assistants (HLTAs)

HLTAs run individual/small group wave 2/3 interventions for young people with a range of SEND. HLTAs' support classroom teacher review resources in line with adaptive teaching. They also assist the SENDCo and Deputy SENDCos in helping monitor the work of LSAs.

Access and Inclusion Coordinator

The A&I Coordinator plays a vital role in supporting students from Year 7 – 13 by conducting assessments to inform adaptive teaching practices. They collaborate with subject teachers to ensure that appropriate adaptations are implemented based on individual assessment needs. Additionally, the

A&I Coordinator oversees the screening process for Access Arrangements in preparation for all public exams. They are support moderating the ASDAN assessments with the SEN teacher. In Addition, the A&I Coordinator triages referrals within the school for students with undiagnosed needs, ensuring timely support for those requiring further assessment and intervention.

Learning Support Assistants (LSAs)

To provide in-class support for young people with SEND. They also have a role in discussing children's progress with parents. Senior LSAs have extra responsibilities, particularly in relation to assisting the SENDCo with administrative tasks and duties connected with the management and professional development of LSAs. LSA's to contribute adaptive teaching in line with the curriculum.

Students

Students are encouraged to take an active part in identifying suitable targets and monitoring their own progress. They are encouraged to develop their independence as they get older. Students are invited to attend self-advocacy and problem solving workshops lead by SENDCo and EP to help empower pupils understanding of needs and need for support.

Student voice, experience, and self-advocacy lies at the heart of our school ethos. Students are empowered to express their views, share their experiences, and advocate for their own needs. By amplifying student voice, we create an inclusive and collaborative learning environment where students feel valued, heard, and respected. The SENDCo, HLTA's and SALT lead and deliver self-advocacy workshops to develop student confidence and skills to articulate their needs, seek appropriate support, and actively participate in shaping their educational journey.

ADMISSION ARRANGEMENTS

A young person with an EHCP naming Stepney All Saints School will be offered a place, unless there are particular reasons why the School is unable to do so. The place will be provided in the appropriate band of ability.

In accordance with the SEND Code of Practice 2015, Stepney All Saints School is committed to offering a placement to a young person who possesses an Education, Health, and Care Plan (EHCP) specifically naming our school, unless there are exceptional circumstances that prevent us from doing so. The placement offered will align with the student's appropriate ability level, ensuring a suitable educational environment that supports their unique needs and requirements.

Resourcing at Support for SEND

LSD staff provide a range of additional support. LSD teachers and HLTAs provide small group classes for literacy/numeracy, speech and language and social skills support. In-class support is provided mainly by LSAs. LSD teachers and HLTAs also provide short term targeted one-to-one support in line with EHCP outcomes.

There is a strong focus on enhancing student participation in the identification and reflection of their LSP targets with the aim of prioritising a student-centred approach. LSP reviews will be led by experienced HLTA's and LSD teachers. The inclusive approach ensures students have access to the National curriculum, enabling them to grasp the key concepts, acquire essential skills, and cultivate a sense of confidence in their own progress.

Resourcing for students with EHCPs

Young people with EHCPs receive the staffing provision specified on their EHCP. This could be from an LSA, HLTA and/or a teacher from the LSD. The EHCP may also specify access to resources other than staffing. Young people with EHCPs have person-centred annual reviews at which progress is evaluated and decisions made about the appropriateness of the current provision outlined in the EHCP. Relevant external agencies are invited to these reviews.

IDENTIFICATION OF SEND STUDENTS

Aims of SEND identification and assessment:

- To identify young people needing support to access the curriculum.
- To identify needs and plan teaching strategies.
- To provide feedback to young people to enhance learning skills.
- To develop students' ability to identify own achievements and target areas for improvement.
- To provide feedback to teachers on effectiveness of teaching strategies.
- To encourage the use of a variety of assessment techniques to ensure each young person has the opportunity to succeed and become aware of progress made.

Identification of SEND is based on APDR (Assess, Plan, Do and Review)

- Information obtained from previous school records.
- Information from outside agencies.
- Information from parents and the young person.
- Cognitive Ability Tests (CATs), Accelerated Reader tests, group spelling tests
- Individual diagnostic tests for those identified as needing extra support.
- Classroom observation.
- Phonenix outreach observations
- Reports and referrals from subject teachers.
- Data on attainment levels (teacher assessment without levels)

Progress is monitored and assessed through:

- LSP reviews
- Students' self-review
- Views of students
- Views of parents
- Attainment data on SIMS
- Students events recorded on SIMS

- Results of individual diagnostic tests especially for literacy and numeracy
- School reports
- Annual Review of EHCPs

ASSESSMENT

Concern

A referral system has been established for subject teachers, form tutors, and Heads of Years to report concerns using a screen form. In addition to teacher input, reading, spelling, and Cognitive Ability Tests (CATs) results are utilised to identify students who may have SEND. Collaboration takes place with the Assistant Headteacher responsible for EAL students to investigate the possibility of a bilingual learner in the early stages of learning English also having SEND.

In cases where concerns are raised by test results or primary schools regarding a student in Year 7, and there is no additional supporting evidence available, the student will be initially recorded on the preliminary SEND list during the autumn term. This preliminary status will be reviewed during the subsequent tracking period, and a decision will be made at that point regarding whether or not to include the student on the SEND list. The student will undergo observations.

Support for SEND (SEND on SEND list)

The LSD will provide a degree of support depending on available resources and the young person's needs (see school offer on school website). The young person will have an LSP in place. Parents will be invited to meet to decide the support that their child is being offered and how they can support their child at home. This is recorded on the LSP.

The LSD will offer support to students based on the resources available and the specific needs of each individual (please refer to the school's website for detailed information on the support provided). As part of this process, an LSP will be put in place for the student. Parents will be invited to attend a meeting to discuss the support being offered to their child and to determine how they can provide support at home. The decisions and agreements reached during this meeting will be documented and recorded on the student's LSP.

If it becomes clear that support from within the school is not enough to ensure that special needs are met, external specialists are consulted, for example from the Educational Psychology Service (EPS) and the Support for Learning Service (SLS). All requests for extra support must be backed up with firm evidence of strategies that have been tried within the school and evidence of lack of adequate progress in response to these.

In circumstances where it becomes evident that the support provided within the school setting is insufficient to meet the special needs of a student, external specialists in tier 3 intervention will be consulted such as those from the Educational Psychology Service (EPS) and the Support for Learning Service (SLS) and Phoenix. It is essential that any requests for additional support are accompanied by substantial evidence of the strategies that have been implemented within the school environment. The evidence will be presented to demonstrate that these strategies have been ineffective in facilitating adequate progress for the student.

Statutory assessment of SEND

If, after review and consultation with parents, agencies and teachers the School or LEA considers the need for a full assessment is necessary, a statutory assessment is completed. If agreed, the LEA will consult with the school, agencies and parents to write an EHCP. Not all statutory assessments result in an EHCP or are written by the SENDCo.

After thorough review and consultation involving parents, agencies, and teachers, if the School or Local Education Authority (LEA) determines that a comprehensive assessment is warranted, a statutory assessment will be conducted. If it is agreed the LEA will engage in consultations with the school, relevant agencies, and parents to develop an Education, Health, and Care Plan (EHCP). It is important to note that not all statutory assessments lead to an EHCP, and the responsibility of writing the EHCP may not always fall on the SENDCo.

Education, Health and Care Plans

If the LEA decides to issue an EHCP, it details the nature of the provision and that the EHCP must be reviewed within a year.

If the LEA issues an EHCP, the plan will outline the specific provisions required to meet the needs of the student. It is important to note that the EHCP must be reviewed within a year, in accordance with the guidelines set forth in the Code of Practice 2015. This review ensures that the provision outlined in the EHCP remains appropriate and effective for the student's evolving needs.

ACCESS TO THE CURRICULUM

All young people access a broad and balanced curriculum. Subject departments are continually developing and reviewing their teaching strategies and lesson materials in order to ensure that young people with SEND can make progress.

Access to the curriculum means much more than students simply being located in the same classroom as their peers. Differentiation by outcome alone is not enough. Some students require more intensive help with basic skills. For example, in order to ensure that young people with major literacy difficulties can have a better chance of making progress within the National Curriculum it may be more effective to provide focused short term small group tuition in literacy skills than to provide in-class support only.

Teachers are encouraged to use a variety of teaching approaches in response to the variety of learning needs within the class. Some young people require more visual information and find it difficult to use the printed word or to sustain attention to teacher talk. Some need instructions broken down into simpler steps, one at a time. Many young people need new terminology explained in ways they can relate to previous knowledge. Subject departments often develop key word lists for each topic; a focus on vocabulary and spelling can be used to consolidate comprehension and retention of key points. Similarly, teachers are encouraged to use a variety of assessment approaches. A young person with specific learning difficulties may have very good understanding of key concepts but may not yet be able to demonstrate this in writing. Use of oral assessment can provide the opportunity for such a young person to demonstrate achievement and maintain self-confidence.

Teachers are encouraged to employ adapted teaching approaches to accommodate the varying learning needs within their classrooms. Some students may benefit from visual aids instead of relying solely on written text or teacher talk. Instructions may need to be simplified and broken down into sequential steps using task planners. It is essential to explain new terminology in relatable ways, building upon students' prior knowledge. Departments of all subjects often create keyword lists for each topic, emphasising vocabulary and spelling to reinforce comprehension and retention of essential concepts and exam skills. Teachers are urged to employ a range of assessment methods. For instance, a student with specific learning difficulties may possess a solid grasp of key concepts but struggle to demonstrate it in writing. Utilising oral assessments can provide these students with an opportunity to showcase their understanding and maintain their self-confidence. Some students are encouraged to use assistive technology.

INCLUSION

Students with SEND join in the usual academic and social activities of the school together with students who do not have SEND. The SENDCo, Deputy SENDCos, SEN teacher, HLTAs, LSAs and external professionals support teachers in being clear about what different groups of students need within the school. With the emphasis on more inclusive education all members of the school community are made more aware of individual students' needs

In line with the goal of promoting inclusivity in education, the school community as a whole is encouraged to be more conscious of the individual needs of students. Both the principle of inclusion and the Code of Practice (2015) place greater responsibility on all staff members to support young people with SEND. To help staff fulfill this responsibility, they receive continuous professional development (CPD). The SENDCo also runs SEND surgery for all staff.

CRITERIA FOR EVALUATING THE SUCCESS OF THE SEND POLICY

The following criteria will be used to evaluate how successfully the policy has been implemented:

- Agreed procedures for referral being followed.
- SEND list kept up to date and available to all staff.
- LSPs written for all young people on the SEND list.
- All staff have access to a copy of the LSPs for the students they teach or support.
- All staff are aware of the contents of the LSPs (main area of concern, student targets, and recommended teaching strategies and exams access arrangements) and aware that they are invited to provide comments or suggestions for next LSPs.
- Departments are able to report on the development of differentiation strategies. Adaptive Curriculum
- Young people with LSPs have a copy of their own targets and know what they are. Copies of their LSPs are sent to parents.
- Young people with SEND show increasing confidence in ability to cope independently in lessons.
- Students making progress as shown by the monitoring or LSP outcomes, by results of standardised tests, teacher assessment of progress and public examination outcomes.

COMPLAINTS

Parents who wish to voice a concern about their child's progress or complain about SEND provision can make an appointment to see the SENDCo. The SENDCo will keep a log of any complaints and the action taken in response. The line manager and head teacher will also be informed. If parents do not consider this action is adequate they may contact the head teacher or the governing body, if the matter is still unresolved, the LEA complaints procedure will need to be followed.

For everyday issues, students/parents can approach their tutor, subject teacher, or head of year. However, if there are more serious concerns related to special educational needs and student requirements, the Deputy SENDCo or the SENDCo should be notified. In addition, the school has a complaints procedure that encompasses all complaints, including those related to SEND provision. For more information, please refer to the school's website and SEND policy.

EXTERNAL SUPPORT SERVICES

The school consults and uses the following as appropriate:

The school engages in consultation and uses the following report from the services as deemed appropriate:

- Educational Psychology Service
- Educational Social Work Service
- Tower Hamlets Careers Service
- Support for Learning Service
- Speech and Language / Visual Impairment / Hearing Impairment
- Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS)
- Parents' Advice Centre
- Language Support Service
- Local Education Authority (LEA) SEND Section
- Phoenix Outreach Service
- Social Inclusion Panel (SIP)
- Safer London
- Early Help (EH)

PARTNERSHIP WITH PARENTS / CARERS

Parental involvement is encouraged at all stages of the assessment procedure. The LSD aims to ensure that interpreters are available if needed for example at Annual Reviews/Parent review meetings and coffee mornings. Stepney All Saints has a Home-School Liaison Officer who can contact parents of young people with SEND. The SENDCo attends parents' evening in order that parents / carers can discuss issues and receive feedback on the progress of their child.

LINKS WITH OTHER SCHOOLS

Stepney All Saints School maintains close contact with feeder primary schools. If at the admission interview it is established that a child has SEND, the information will be passed to the SENDCo, who will liaise with the child's current or previous school to obtain SEND records. When a young person transfers from Stepney All Saints to another school, all curriculum records are forwarded to the new school. The SENDCo or LSD staff attend Annual Reviews of students in Year 6. The SENDCo attends SENDCo conferences run by Tower Hamlets LEA so has the opportunity to meet SENDCos from all Tower Hamlets schools.

Stepney All Saints School maintains strong links with primary schools that students transition from. During the admission interview, if it is learnt that a child has SEND this information is shared with the SENDCo. The SENDCo then collaborates with the child's current or previous school to obtain their SEND records. The SENDCo or LSD staff members attend Annual Reviews for students in Year 6, providing support and guidance.

When a student from Stepney All Saints School moves to another school, all curriculum records are sent to the new school to ensure a smooth transition alongside a handover meeting with the new named school.

SENDCo participates in SENDCo conferences organised by the Tower Hamlets Local Education Authority (LEA). These conferences offer opportunities for the SENDCo to meet and interact with other SENDCos from various schools in the Tower Hamlets area.

SEN PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Priority areas:

- Department training regarding on-going priority of annual review issues/completion, ensuring all are student centred
- Continued work within department and with wider teaching and support staff to raise progress levels for EHCP, K and low attaining students.
- Review extra-curricular intervention for SEND students to support progress.
- Liaise with local authority SEND to ensure SASS is able to meet the learning needs of students being referred her.
- Review staffing structure.
- Review department accommodation to ensure it best meets the needs of learners.

It is important that an opportunity is provided for teachers/LSAs attending INSET to report back to colleagues. LSAs are encouraged to attend courses provided by the LEA.

MONITORING AND EVALUATION OF THE WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT

- Please refer to “Criteria for evaluating the success of the SEND policy” in the SEND policy.
- We will use a variety of evaluation procedures. We will consider various indicators of student progress (objective tests as well as surveys of teacher, parents and student opinion). We will use these to review our support strategies.
- Our work must be evaluated in the light of existing staffing and resources levels but we will make suggestions for further developments which could be undertaken if more resources were available.
- The SENDCo and Deputy SENDCos will monitor records kept by school based LSD staff once a term.
- LSD staff will be encouraged to self-evaluate and share ideas with each other in the context of meetings. These will be pooled and documented in the form of a strategy bank/aide memoir. LSD staff will also be encouraged to identify their own current strengths and professional development needs. This can be discussed and documented at individual line management meetings.
- If the subject teachers have concerns about support provided by a particular teacher or assistant, they should first discuss the issue with the person directly. If the problem is not resolved they should inform the SENDCo.
- Feedback from parents occurs through Annual Reviews for young people with EHCPs. The SENDCo is available for meetings and is present at all parents’ evenings.
- Feedback from students is sought in the context of LSPs reviews and check-ins with their keyworker.

SPIRITUAL, MORAL, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

The LSD supports the school policy and believes it can contribute to this by increasing the opportunity for 1:1 dialogue between young person and adult, through in-class support across the curriculum.

The LSD upholds the school's policy and recognises its potential to enhance moral, spiritual, social and cultural development. One way the LSD aims to achieve this is by facilitating increased opportunities for one-on-one dialogue, small group sessions between young person and adults. This is accomplished through in-class support that spans across the curriculum and through PSHE.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES

The LSD supports the school policy and works in partnership with other departments to ensure that all students are given any support they need to access the curriculum. It also contributes to curriculum development in order to meet the needs of students with varying abilities, learning styles and educational backgrounds. We comply with the Equality Act 2010.

The Learning Support Department (LSD) upholds Teachers' Standards working in partnership with other departments to ensure that all students receive the necessary support to access the curriculum. The LSD actively contributes to curriculum development, considering the needs of students with varying abilities, learning styles, and educational backgrounds. In doing so, the department adheres to the principles outlined in the Equality Act 2010.
